- 2. The first reported visit of Soviet planes to Najin occurred on 18 May 1950, when two Soviet naval seaplanes landed in the harbor. The planes were described as four-motored and resembling B-29s. They carried thirty Soviet naval aviators. After a three-hour delay the two planes took off for an unsknown destination.
- 3. A Soviet ship of about 5,000 tons unloaded a cargo at Najin on 17 May consisting of unstated quantities of bombs, torpedos, oil supplies including gasoline, heavy oil, lubricating oil, and other types, and four trucks. The torpedos were assumed by local observers to be for the Soviet naval units in the port.
- 4. Soviet vessels, both merchant and military types, call at the port occasionally to load supplies,
- 5. In late May, a 3,000-ton gunboat, constructed in the Chongjin (129-49, 41-46) shipyards under Soviet supervision, was anchored at Majin. No regular marine constabulary were stationed at the port, but 140 men were receiving marine constabulary training there. The course, lasting six months, is scheduled to be completed at the end of July 1950. Instructors in the course include:
 - a. Navigation techniques:
